

Chipotle

Customer & Investor Sentiment Report

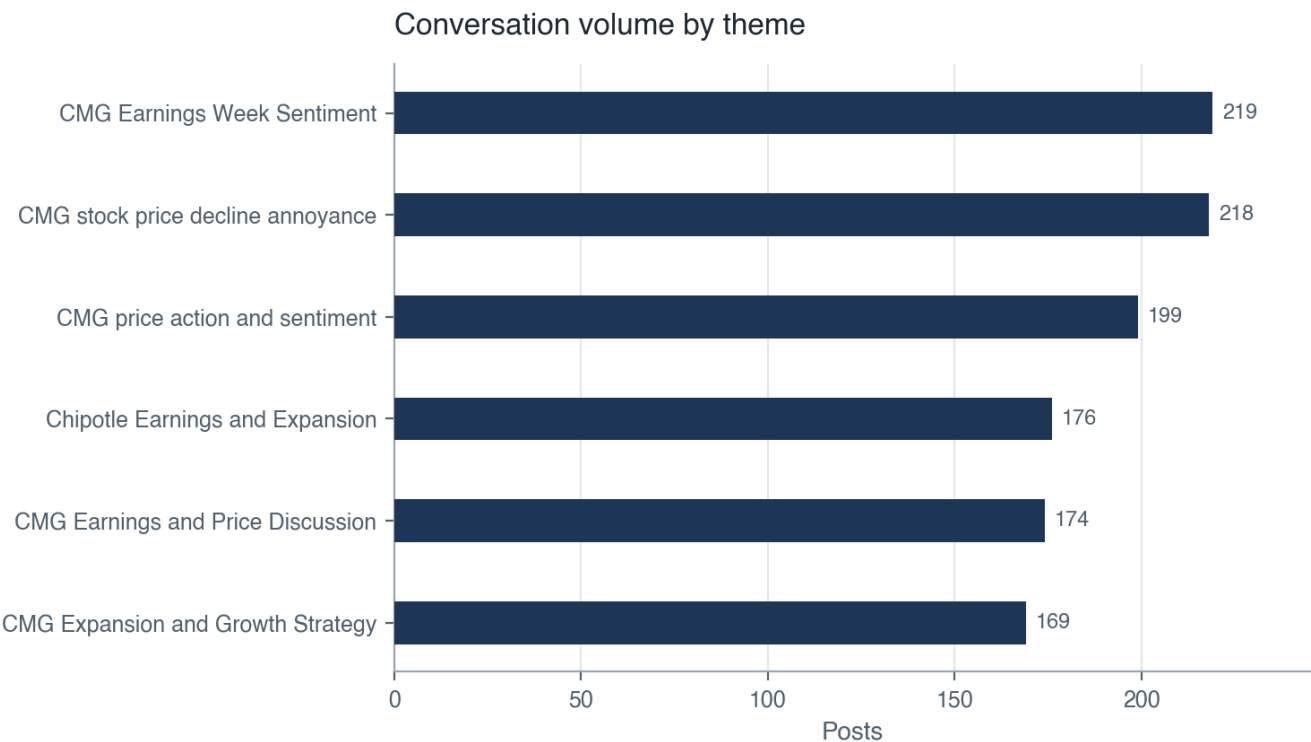

Reporting period: Feb 4, 2026 – May 28, 2026

Based on 1,155 public StockTwits posts

Prepared May 28, 2026

Executive Summary

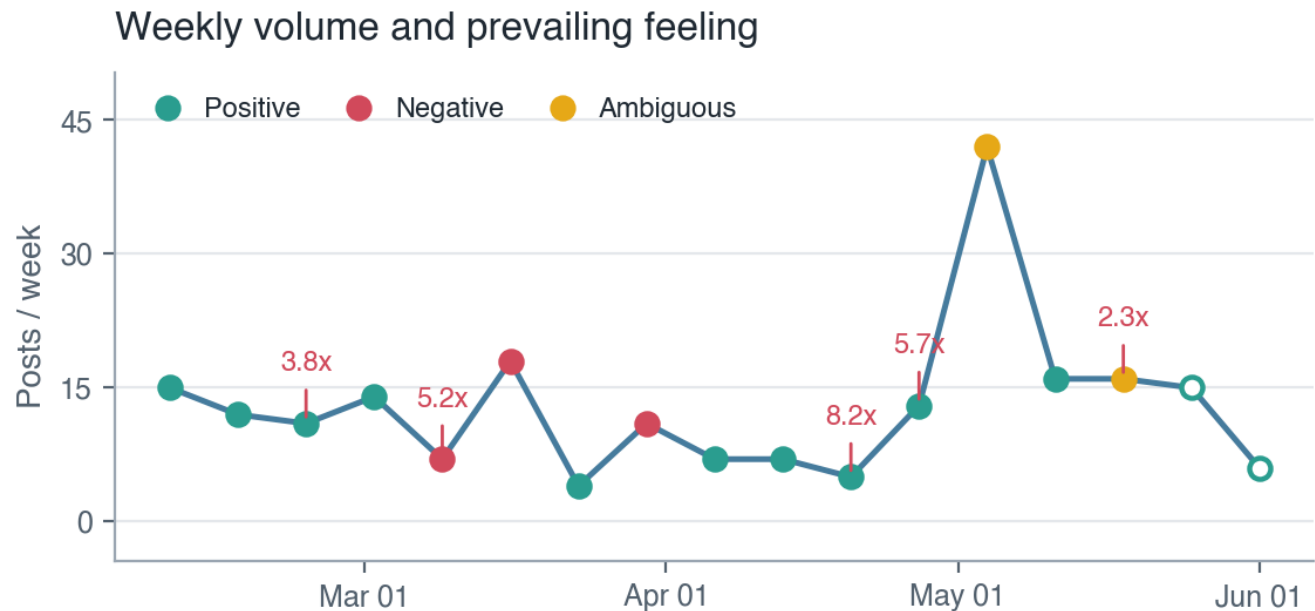

Based on 1,155 StockTwits posts from Feb 4 to May 28, 2026, the conversation is led by sentiment around CMG earnings week (about 19% of posts), annoyance at CMG stock price declines (19%), and general CMG price action (17%) — a conversation dominated by negative sentiment. The largest shift was in CMG earnings and price discussion, which fell 81% week-over-week as the mood turned to curiosity, while CMG expansion and growth strategy chatter spiked to 5.8 times its normal level on March 11, 2026. Overall tone leans negative (39% negative against 33% positive). With significant annoyance around stock performance and a notable spike in expansion discussions, investor relations should prepare to address both price concerns and strategic growth narratives proactively.

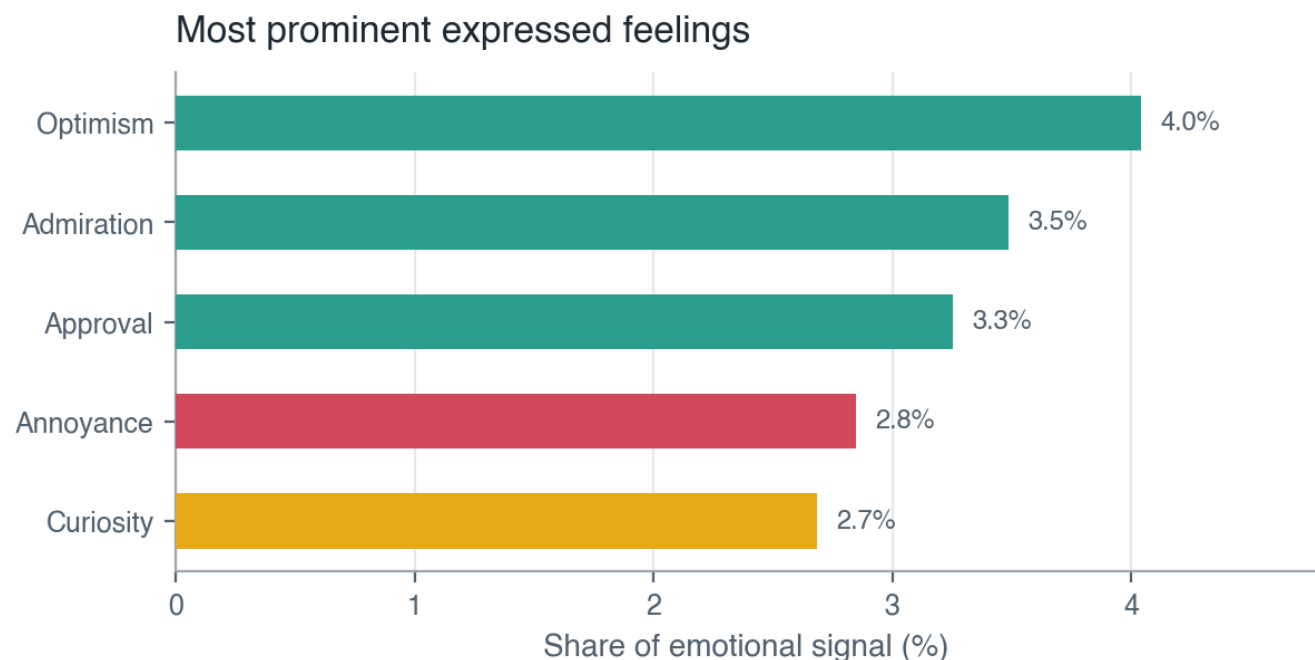

Themes in the Conversation

1. CMG Earnings Week Sentiment

219 posts · 19% of conversation

CMG Earnings Week Sentiment is the largest theme in the conversation at roughly 19% of posts, with optimism the most prominent expressed feeling and rival Cava recurring as a comparison point. Volume was flat week-over-week, but the prevailing feeling pivoted from admiration to confusion, while a single day on April 24 drew 8.2x its normal posting — a clear surge of attention into earnings. As one customer on StockTwits put it, "Fought it out in $INTC all day, ended up adding 1% to my account, flat in my trading account. All in short $CMG heading into the weekend. I don't feel like there will be many getting long before earnings next week, I am looking for a selloff early in the week and if the stock do..."

"Fought it out in $INTC all day, ended up adding 1% to my account, flat in my trading account. All in short $CMG heading into the weekend. I dont feel like there will be many getting long before earnings next week, I am looking for a selloff early in the week and if the stock do..."

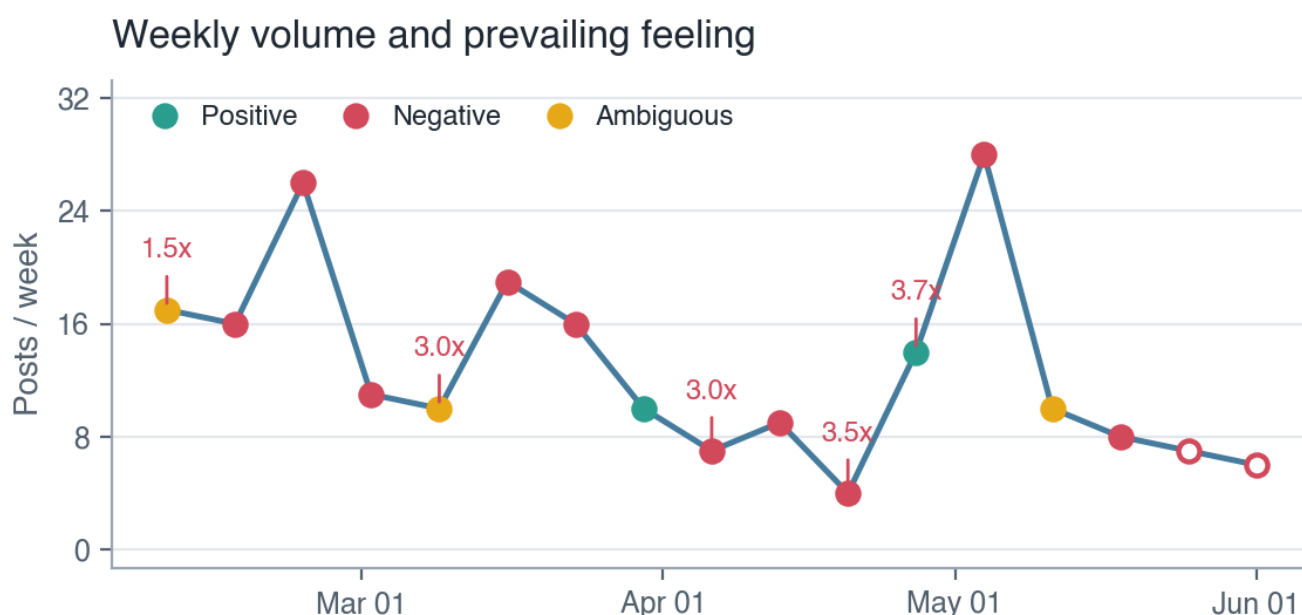

— a customer on StockTwits

"What's up with $CMG climbing over 4% in the last five sessions without any fresh news The options flow is leaning heavily on short-dated, near-the-money puts This feels more like hedging into strength rather than a big bullish play Saw a 38,000-contract 4/10 $33 put block at the..."

— a customer on StockTwits

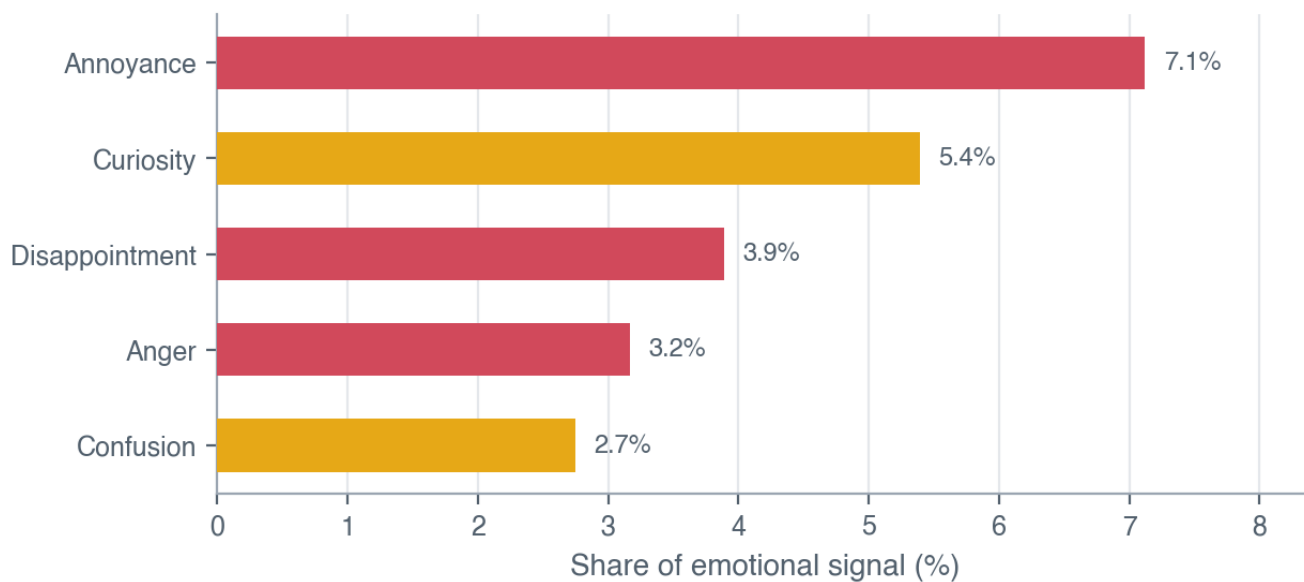

2. CMG stock price decline annoyance

218 posts · 19% of conversation

Annoyance over CMG's stock price decline is a significant theme, representing 18.9% of posts. The most prominent expressed feeling is annoyance, shifting from curiosity week-over-week, with volume down 20%. A spike on March 11, 2026, saw posting activity 3.0x its normal level. As one customer on StockTwits noted, "$CMG - 21.3% cheaper (Avg buy price ~$43.79)".

Most prominent expressed feelings

“. ■■■■■■■■ ■■■■■■■■ ■ Top stocks trading below the Average Buy Price of 5-star Hedge Fund of Stanley Druckenmiller, Duquesne. $Z - 37.7% cheaper (Avg buy price ~$72.64) $RH - 28.7% cheaper (Avg buy price ~$191.16) $CMG - 21.3% cheaper (Avg buy price ~$43.79) $AAL - 18.3% cheaper (A...”

— a customer on StockTwits

“$CMG nothing going on Barclays cuts target price to $40 from $44 BMO cuts target price to $52 from $55 BofA Global Research cuts price objective to $53 from $55 Deutsche Bank cuts target price to $48 from $49 Mizuho cuts target price to $37 from $38 Morgan Stanley cuts target pr...”

— a customer on StockTwits

3. CMG price action and sentiment

199 posts · 17% of conversation

CMG price action and sentiment is a significant theme, representing 17.2% of posts. The most prominent expressed feeling is annoyance, though optimism and curiosity are also present. Volume decreased 50% week-over-week, and the prevailing sentiment shifted from annoyance to love. A spike on April 29, 2026, saw posting volume 6.2 times its normal level.

“$RICK This is the game plan. 1. Sell off as much non performing RE as possible (pay down debt, Pay Adam loan, use cash left over for big buybacks) 2. Stabilize Bombshells turning it into a Bar that has food vs a restaurant (Eric is in this and trying to convert the other locatio...”

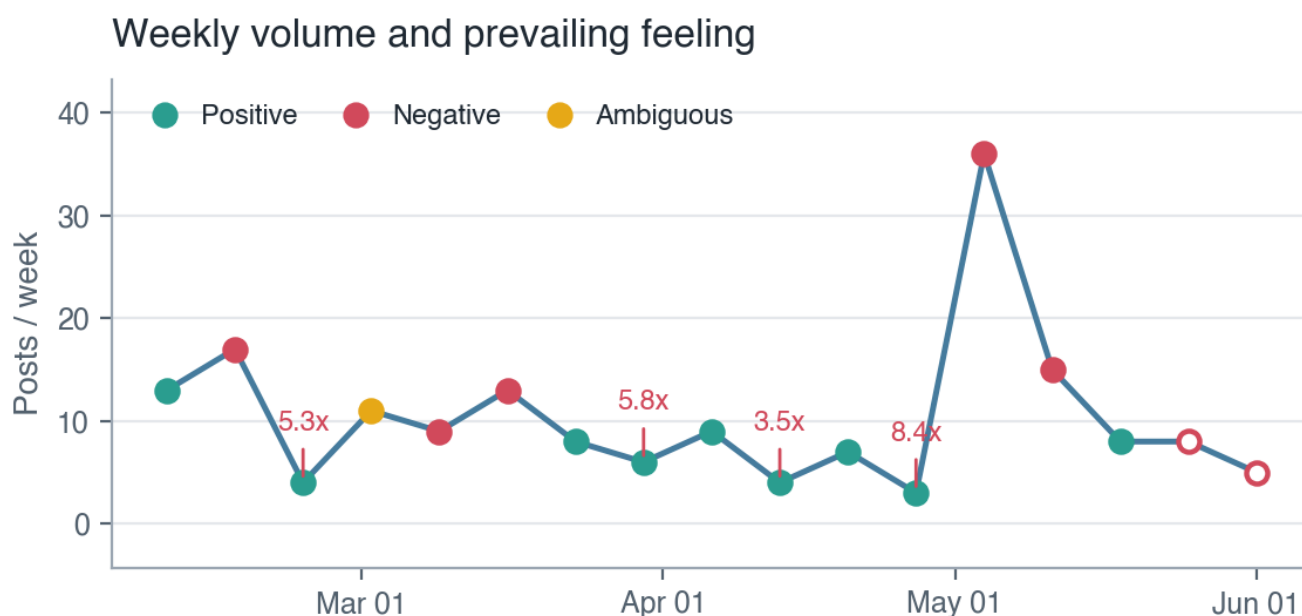

— an investor on StockTwits

"$CMG should had been a solid $50 as one of the most prominent places for casual eating. On one hand, portion control has discouraged patrons. With some exaggeration for illustration purposes....paying for a burrito and getting a taco portion wrapped burrito. Chipotle needs to go ba..."

— an investor on StockTwits

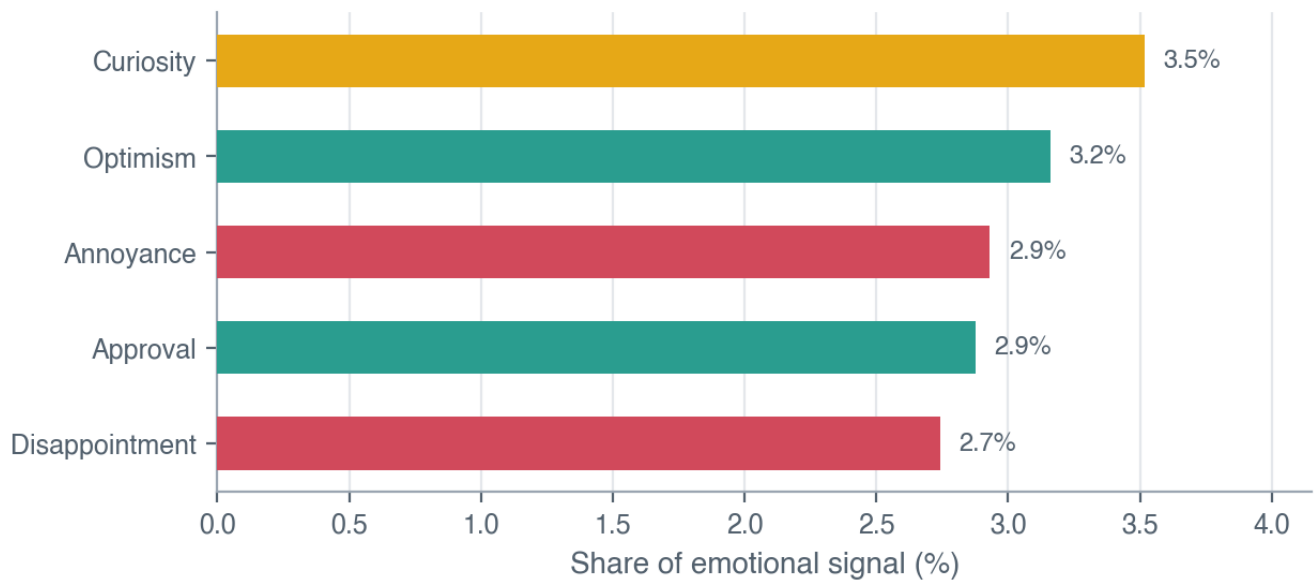

4. Chipotle Earnings and Expansion

176 posts · 15% of conversation

Chipotle earnings and expansion is a significant theme, accounting for 15.2% of posts, with curiosity the most prominent expressed feeling. Volume decreased 47% week-over-week, and the prevailing sentiment shifted from disapproval to approval, coinciding with a promotional announcement that drew 8.4 times the normal posting volume on April 28, 2026. As one customer on StockTwits described the promotion: "$CMG just released its latest promotion, \"Chipolte Deconstructed\" - \"two scoops!\" of protein in a heated pouch, sides of black beans, pinto beans, peppers and onion, lettuce, cheese and guac. A burrito shell and two taco shells. All the salsas and a small bag of chips. All packe..."

Most prominent expressed feelings

“$CMG just released its latest promotion, "Chipolte Deconstructed" - "two scoops!" of protein in a heated pouch, sides of black beans, pinto beans, peppers and onion, lettuce, cheese and guac. A burrito shell and two taco shells. All the salsas and a small bag of chips. All packe...”

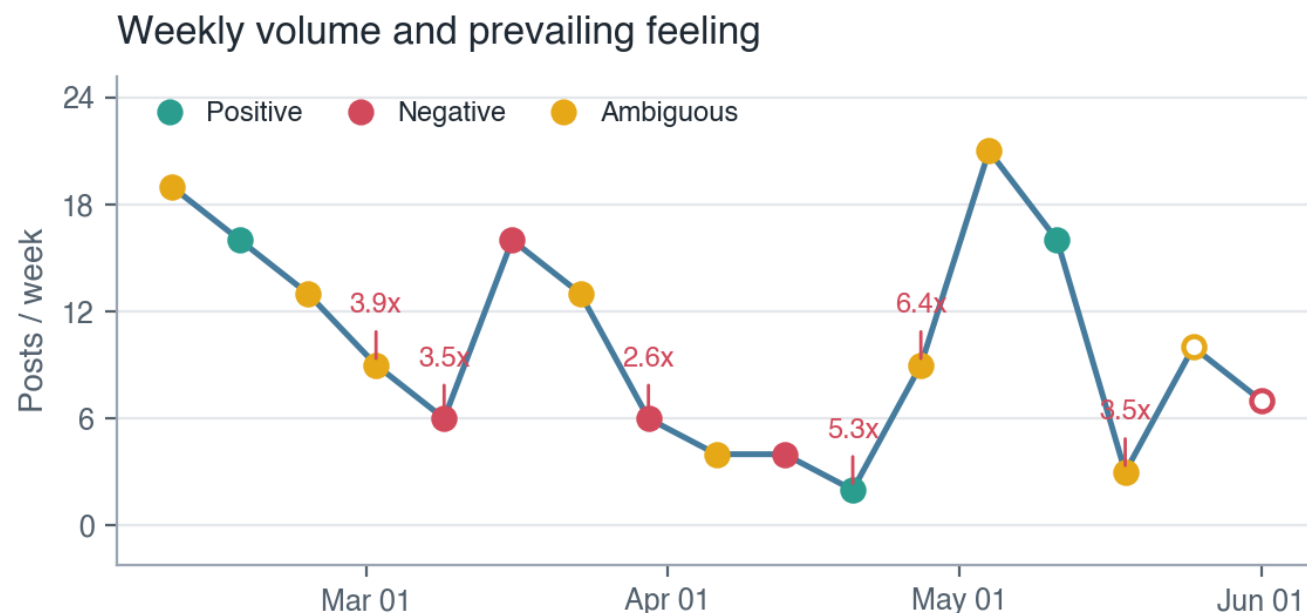

— a customer on StockTwits

“$CMG earnings just dropped. Watching the print closely, traffic numbers are what matter here, not just the headline beat. Margins under pressure with food costs sticky. If comps miss, this thing gets repriced fast. $SHAK setup looks interesting on any spillover.”

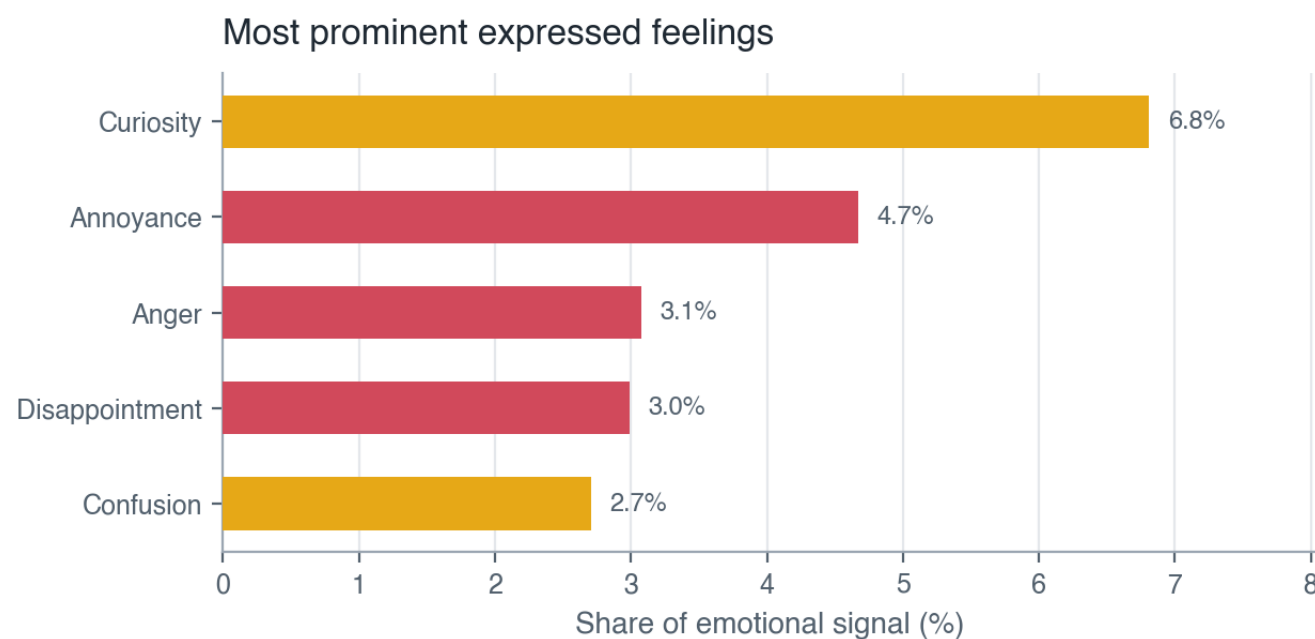

— a customer on StockTwits

5. CMG Earnings and Price Discussion

174 posts · 15% of conversation

Discussion of CMG's earnings and price action is a significant theme, representing 15.1% of posts. The most prominent expressed feeling is curiosity, shifting from admiration week-over-week, with volume down 81%. A spike on April 29, 2026, drew 6.4x normal attention, coinciding with commentary on the CEO's performance and future growth plans. As one investor on StockTwits noted, "$CMG Honestly market had to push itself forward when CEO wanted to stay ot low and flat. What and how he talked yesterday was so below par. Says Chipotle had a great January and introduction of protein menu had great turnout, says Chipotle will open in comparsion like one new re..."

"$CMG Honestly market had to push itself forward when CEO wanted to stay ot low and flat. What and how he talked yesterday was so below par. Says Chipotle had a great January and introduction of protein menu had great turnout, says Chipotle will open in comparsion like one new re..."

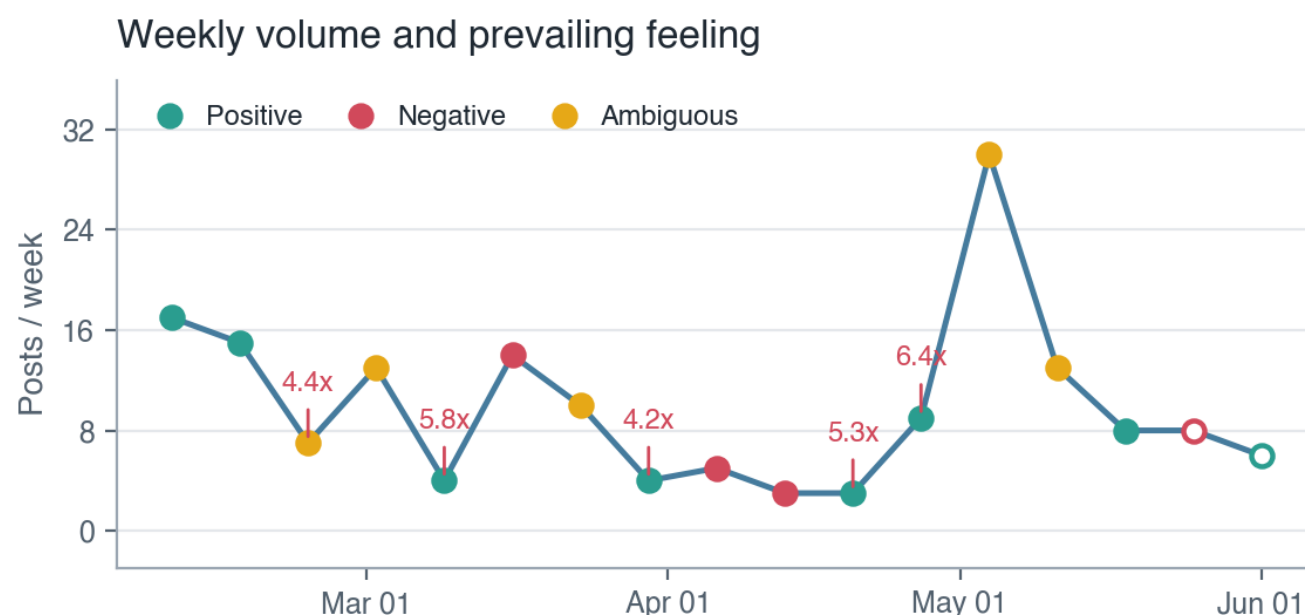

— an investor on StockTwits

"$CMG I am a large shareholder here with $7.45 cost basis. I listed to last earnings report. Dismal sales and growth is a big deal, but consumer food sector continues to be weak. I expect share price to be between $30 - $40, unless something changes in future earnings releases, w..."

— a customer on StockTwits

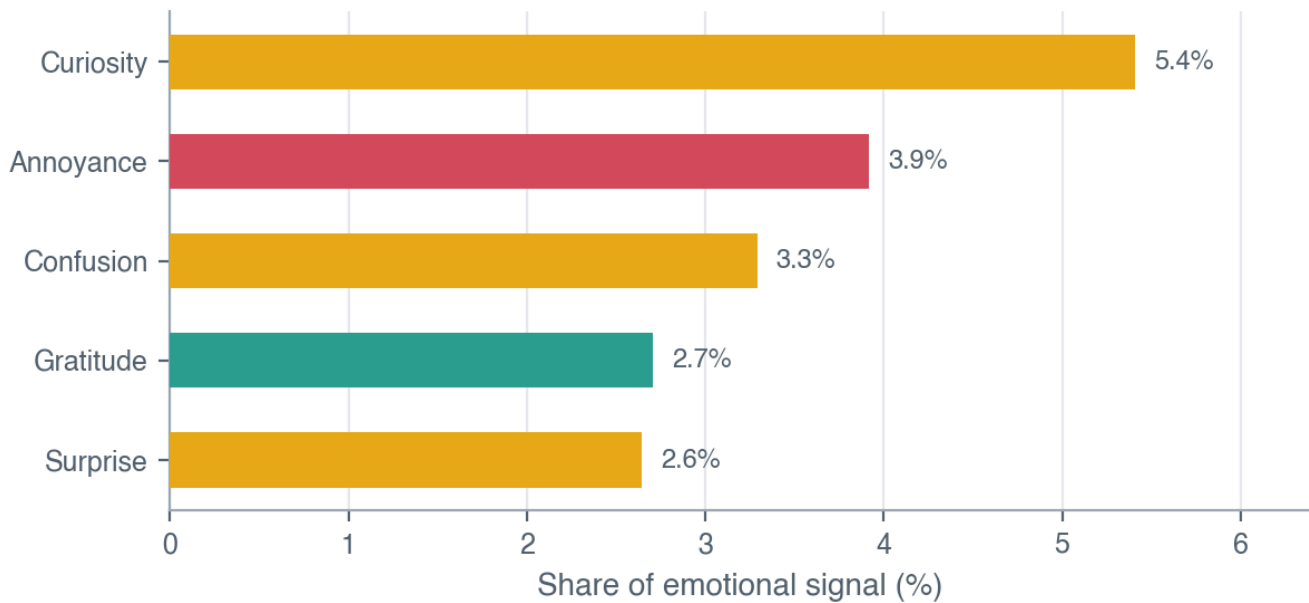

6. CMG Expansion and Growth Strategy

169 posts · 15% of conversation

Discussion of CMG's expansion and growth strategy is a significant theme, representing 14.6% of posts. The most prominent expressed feeling is curiosity, with a notable 72% of posts that tagged a stance being bullish. This theme saw a 38% decrease in volume week-over-week, and the prevailing sentiment shifted from confusion to optimism, with a spike on March 11, 2026, drawing 5.8 times the normal posting volume. As one investor on StockTwits noted, "$CMG Look BELOW Folks! Dont miss out and have to chase later. Great Entry now! Come back and thank me later! ■■ Reversals Incoming!!! $SCHW Analyst Bullish - Hit all time low $BSX Great Entry- At all time low $MCD Analysts Signal Outperform $WMT BUY Signals! These will be the ne..."

Most prominent expressed feelings

“$CMG Look BELOW Folks! Dont miss out and have to chase later. Great Entry now! Come back and thank me later! ■■ Reversals Incoming!!! $SCHW Analyst Bullish - Hit all time low $BSX Great Entry- At all time low $MCD Analysts Signal Outperform $WMT BUY Signals! These will be the ne...”

— an investor on StockTwits

“$CMG pretty much everyday whoever manipulates this decides it's time to short sell it at some point. They make money on the way up and then they rug pull it. Or they short it at open and then go long. Almost everyday this swings in both directions. Ever notice that it doesn't up...”

— a customer on StockTwits

Methodology & Notes

This report summarizes 1,155 public posts about Chipotle on StockTwits between Feb 4, 2026 and May 28, 2026. Posts were grouped into recurring discussion themes, and each post was scored for emotional tone across 28 categories using an automated language model.

Theme narratives and the executive summary are generated from the underlying figures by an automated assistant and reviewed for accuracy against the source metrics. All quotations are reproduced verbatim from public posts; individual users are never identified.

Posts below a confidence threshold of 40% were excluded. Bullish/bearish figures reflect only the posts where an author tagged a stance, and are noted as a minority signal where that sample is small. Emotional tone is reported using the most prominent expressed (non-neutral) feelings; a large, uninformative neutral share is excluded by design.

Week-over-week comparisons use the two most recent complete calendar weeks (Eastern Time). Spikes flag single days whose volume is unusually high relative to the prior week's daily average (threshold: 2.5 standard deviations), and are reported as a multiple of the normal level.